

„Basic Books“ winter semester 2022/23

Part of the special track curriculum „Global Health“

Description/Course content:

The course “Basic Books” is structured as a reading course, which deals with central books on global health. Students can choose between different books, which they would like to read as well as to discuss and present in groups.

These books include “A History of Global Health” and “Blind Spot.”

The course should improve reading skills and contribute to a better understanding of global health issues.

Dates:

- Introduction, book presentation and individual selection
7. November 2022, 18:15 - 19:45 h
- Book discussion after reading in individual groups
12. December 2022, 18:15 - 19:45 h
- Book presentation/final discussion
30. January 2023, 18:15 - 20:30 h

Book selection winter semester 2022/23:

- Keshavjee, Salmaan: Blind Spot. How Neoliberalism Infiltrated Global Health
<https://hds.hebis.de/ubgi/Record/HEB360319564>
(Access only in the network of the University of Gießen)
- Packard, Randall M.: A History of Global Health. Interventions into the Lives of Other Peoples <https://jhupbooks.press.jhu.edu/content/history-global-health>

Lecturer: Dr. S. Krannich

Examination format: Regular participation, individual reading, book presentation

Access to the lecture: link from lecturer (webex)

ECTS: 1

update: 2022/12/06, subject to alterations