

Medicine [ˈmɛdɪsɪn]

noun

1. a. The science of diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of disease, and the branch of this science that deals with the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of disease.
b. The branch of this science that deals with the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of disease.
2. The practice of the science of medicine.
3. An agent, such as a drug, that is used in the treatment of disease.
4. Something that serves to improve the economy; medicine.
- 5.

12.12.2014

19.00 Uhr
Sekttempfang

20.30 Uhr
Beginn

Examensball Humanmedizin 2014

Mehrzweckhalle Allendorf - Untergasse 34 - 35398 Giessen

35€