

AAA - A1.1		Evening Class: German A 1.1		Independent of the semester	3 CP
Module description		Evening class: German as a foreign language A 1.1
Module code		AAA - A1.1 EU
Department / Subject / Institute		Akademisches Auslandsamt (international office). Section: German as a foreign language (DaF)
Conducted in the following courses of study/ ... semester(s) ...		The course is run independent of the study subject. The target group is exchange students, doctoral candidates and visiting academics and their families. Recognition as a qualification in an unrelated-subject skill ("AfK") is only possible for students with a foreign University Entrance Qualification.
Module supervisor:		Berthold Peter
Requirements for participation		Registration at the international office
Professional orientation Relevance to studies		An adequate knowledge of German is required from foreign students and academics for the purpose of integration in the studies, in the profession and in everyday life outside the university.
Orientation of the module		The main purpose of the module is the teaching and practicing of German language skills relevant in an academic environment, i.e. for the acquisition of knowledge.
Skills and knowledge to be acquired		Knowledge of grammar and vocabulary and skill in reading and listening comprehension, writing and speaking the German language
Content of the module		The content of the module follows the discretionary standards in the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR), for Level A1.1 (beginners without pre-knowledge) and also deals with the specific demands made by everyday student life.
Form(s) of class(-es)		Language course
Form(s) of testing/evaluation		Test for the module
Work load in hours	Total	90 h
	Of these for A Classes
	Aa Obligatory attendance:	60 h
	Ab Preparation and further study, course assessment	30 h
	B Privately organised work within the module	Does not apply
C Module(final) test/examination	Belongs to Point A
Test for the course Type A	Precondition	Regular participation
	Final assessment in the module consisting of	Two tests in each course. Text production, reading comprehension and grammar will be tested.
	Repetition of assessment	Repetition of test
	Final mark for the module	40% from the mid-semester test, 40% from the final test and 20 % for oral participation. Compensation is possible.
Credit points		3
Regularity of class, length in semesters		each winter semester and each summer semester
Language of instruction		German
Capacity of class		max. 20 participants per class

AAA - A1.2		Evening Class, German: A1.2		Independent of the semester	3 CP
Module description		Evening course: German as a foreign language. At level A 1.2
Module code		AAA - A1.2 EU
Department /Subject/Institute		Akademisches Auslandsamt (international office). Section: German as a foreign language (DaF)
Conducted in the following courses of study/ ... semester(s) ...		The course is run independent of the study subject. The target group is exchange students, doctoral candidates and visiting academics and their families. Recognition as a qualification in an unrelated-subject skill ("AfK") is only possible for students with a foreign University Entrance Qualification.
Module supervisor:		Berthold Peter
Requirements for participation		For registration at the international office, a test or certification at the level A1.1 is required.
Professional orientation Relevance to studies		An adequate knowledge of German is required from foreign students and academics for the purpose of integration in the studies, in the profession and in everyday life outside the university.
Orientation of the module		The main purpose of the module is teaching and practicing of German language skills relevant in an academic environment, i.e. for the acquisition of knowledge.
Skills and knowledge to be acquired		Knowledge of grammar and vocabulary, skill in reading and listening comprehension, writing and speaking the German language
Content of the module		The content of the module follows the discretionary standards of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages for the level A1.2, and also deals with the language needs of everyday student life
Form(s) of class(-es)		Language course
Form(s) of testing/evaluation		Test for the module
Work load in hours	Total	90 h
	Of these for A classes
	Aa Obligatory attendance	60 h
	Ab Preparation and further study, course assessment	30 h
	B Privately organised work within the module	Does not apply
	C Module (final) test /examination	Belongs to Point A
Test for the course Type A	Precondition	Regular participation
	Final assessment in the module consisting of	Two tests in each course. Text production, reading comprehension and grammar will be tested.
	Repetition of assessment	Later test
	Final mark for the module	40% from the mid-semester test, 40% from the final test and 20 % for oral participation. Compensation is possible.
Credit points		3
Regularity of class, length in semesters		each winter semester and each summer semester
Language of instruction		German
Capacity of class		max. 20 participants per class

AAA - A2.1	Evening Class, German A2.1	Independent of the semester	3 CP
Module description	Evening course, German as a foreign language at level A 2.1
Module code	AAA - A2.1 EU
Department / Subject / Institute	Akademisches Auslandsamt (international office). Section: German as a foreign language (DaF)
Conducted in the following courses of study/ ... semester(s) .....	The course is run independent of the study subject. The target group is exchange students, doctoral candidates and visiting academics and their families. Recognition as a qualification in an unrelated-subject skill ("AfK") is only possible for students with a foreign University Entrance Qualification.
Module supervisor:	Berthold Peter
Requirements for participation	For registration at the international office a test or certification at the level A 1.2 is required.
Professional orientation Relevance to studies	An adequate knowledge of German is required from foreign students and academics for the purpose of integration in the studies, in the profession and in everyday life outside the university.
Orientation of the module	The main purpose of the module is the teaching and practicing of German language skills relevant in academic environment, i.e. for the acquisition of knowledge.
Skills and knowledge to be acquired	Knowledge of grammar and vocabulary, skill in listening and reading comprehension, writing and speaking the German language.
Content of the module	The module follows the discretionary standards of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages at the level A2.1, and also deals with the needs of everyday student life.
Form(s) of class (-es)	Language course
Forms of testing /evaluation	Test for the module
Work load in hours	Total	90 h
	Of these for A classes
	Aa Obligatory attendance	60 h
	Ab Preparation and further study, course assessment	30 h
	B Privately organised work within the module	Does not apply
C	Belongs to Point A
Test for the course Type A	Precondition	Regular attendance
	Final assessment in the module consisting of	Two tests in each course. Text production, reading comprehension and grammar will be tested
	Repetition of assessment	Later test
	Final mark for the module	40% from the mid-semester test, 40% from the final test and 20 % for oral participation. Compensation is possible.
Credit points	3
Regularity of class, length in semesters	each winter semester and each summer semester
Language of instruction	German
Capacity of class	max. 20 participants per class

AAA - A2.2		Evening Class: German A2.2		Independent of the semester	3 CP
Module description		Evening course: German as a foreign language, at level A 2.2
Module code		AAA - A2.2 EU
Department / Subject / Institute		Akademisches Auslandsamt (international office). Section: German as a foreign language (DaF)
Conducted in the following courses of study/ ... semester(s) ...		The course is run independent of the study subject. The target group is exchange students, doctoral candidates and visiting academics and their families. Recognition as a qualification in an unrelated-subject skill ("AfK") is only possible for students with a foreign University Entrance Qualification.
Module supervisor:		Berthold Peter
Requirements for participation		For registration at the international office a test or certification at the level A 2.1 is required.
Professional orientation Relevance to studies		An adequate knowledge of German is required from foreign students and academics for the purpose of integration in the studies, in the profession and in everyday life outside the university.
Orientation of the module		The main purpose of the module is the teaching and practicing of German language skills relevant in an academic environment, i.e. for the acquisition of knowledge.
Skills and knowledge to be acquired		Knowledge of grammar and vocabulary, skill in listening and reading comprehension, writing and speaking the German language.
Content of the module		The content of the module is based on the discretionary standards of the „Common European Framework of Reference for Languages” at the level A2.2 and also deals with the specific demands made by everyday student life.
Form(s) of class(-es)		Language course
Form(s) of testing/evaluation		Test for the module
Work load in hours	Total	90 h
	Of these for A classes
	Aa obligatory attendance	60 h
	Ab Preparation and further study, course assessment	30 h
	B Selbstgestaltete Arbeit im Modul:	Does not apply
	C Module (final) test	Belongs to Point A
Test for the course Type A	Precondition	Regular attendance
	Final assessment in the module consisting of	In each course there are 2 tests: text production, reading comprehension and grammar will be tested..
	Repetition of assessment	Later test
	Final mark for the module	40% from the mid-semester test, 40% from the final test and 20 % for oral participation. Compensation is possible.
Credit Points		3
Regularity of class, length in semesters		each winter semester and each summer semester
Language of instruction		German
Capacity of class		max. 20 participants per class

AAA - B1.1		Evening class: German B1.1		Independent of the semester	3 CP
Module description		Evening course German as a foreign language, at level B1.1
Module code		AAA - B1.1 EU
Department / Subject / Institute		Akademisches Auslandsamt (international office). Section: German as a foreign language (DaF)
Conducted in the following courses of study/ ... semester(s) ...		The course is run independent of the study subject. The target group is exchange students, doctoral candidates and visiting academics and their families. Recognition as a qualification in an unrelated-subject skill ("AfK") is only possible for students with a foreign University Entrance Qualification.
Module supervisor:		Berthold Peter
Requirements for participation		For registration at the international office, a test or certification at the level A2.2 is required.
Professional orientation Relevance to studies		An adequate knowledge of German is required from foreign students and academics for the purpose of integration in the studies, in the profession and in everyday life outside the university.
Orientation of the module		The main purpose of the module is the teaching and practicing of German language skills relevant in an academic environment, i.e. the acquisition of knowledge.
Skills and knowledge to be acquired		Knowledge of grammar and vocabulary, skill in listening and reading comprehension, writing and speaking the German language.
Content of the module		The content of the module is based on the discretionary standards of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages , level B 1.1 and also deals with the specific demands made by everyday student life.
Form(s) of class(-es)		Language course
Form(s) of testing/evaluation		Test for the module
Work load in hours	Total	90 h
	Of these for A classes
	Aa Attendance:	60 h
	Ab Preparation and further study, course assessment	30 h
	B Privately organised work within the module	Does not apply
C Module (final) test/examination)	Belongs to Point A
Test for the course Type A	Precondition	Regular attendance
	Final assessment in the module consisting of	Two tests in each course. Text production, reading comprehension and grammar will be tested.
	Repetition of assessment	Later test
	Final mark for the module	40% from the mid-semester test, 40% from the final test and 20 % for oral participation. Compensation is possible.
Credit points		3
Regularity of class, length in semesters		each winter semester and each summer semester
Language of instruction		German
Capacity of class		max. 20 participants per class

AAA - B1.2		Evening class: German B1.2		Independent of the semester	3 CP
Module description		Evening course: German as a foreign language, at level B1.1
Module code		AAA - B1.2 EU
Department / Subject / Institute		Akademisches Auslandsamt (international office). Section: German as a foreign language (DaF)
Conducted in the following courses of study/ ... semester(s) ...		The course is run independent of the study subject. The target group is exchange students, doctoral candidates and visiting academics and their families. Recognition as a qualification in an unrelated-subject skill ("AfK") is only possible for students with a foreign University Entrance Qualification.
Supervisor		Berthold Peter
Requirements for participation		For registration at the international office a test/ certification at the level B1.1 is required.
Professional orientation Relevance to studies		An adequate knowledge of German is required from foreign students and academics for the purpose of integration in the studies, in the profession and in everyday life outside the university.
Orientation of the Module		The main purpose of the module is the teaching and practicing of German language skills relevant in an academic environment, i.e. the acquisition of knowledge.
Skills and knowledge to be acquired		Knowledge of grammar and vocabulary, skill in listening and reading comprehension, writing and speaking the German language.
Content of the module		The content of the module is based on the discretionary standards of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages , level B 1.2 and also deals with the specific language demands made by everyday student life.
Form(s) of class(-es)		Language course
Form(s) of testing/evaluation		Test for the module
Work load in hours	Total	90 h
	Of these for A classes
	Aa Attendance:	60 h
	Ab Preparation and further study, course assessment	30 h
	B Privately organised work within the module:	Does not apply
	C Module (final) test/evaluation	Belongs to Point A
Test for the course Type A	Precondition	Regular attendance
	Final assessment in the module consisting of	Two tests in each course. Text production, reading comprehension and grammar will be tested
	Repetition of assessment	Later test
	Final mark for the module	40% from the mid-semester test, 40% from the final test and 20 % for oral participation. Compensation is possible.
Credit points		3
Regularity of class. length in semesters		each winter semester and each summer semester
Language of instruction		German
Capacity of class		max. 20 participants per class

AAA - B2.1		Evening class: German B2.1		Independent of the semester	3 CP
Module description		Evening course: German as a foreign language at level B2.1
Module code		AAA - B2.1 EU
Department / Subject / Institute		Akademisches Auslandsamt (international office). Section: German as a foreign language (DaF)
Conducted in the following courses of study/ ... semester(s) ...		The course is run independent of the study subject. The target group is exchange students, doctoral candidates and visiting academics and their families. Recognition as a qualification in an unrelated-subject skill ("AfK") is only possible for students with a foreign University Entrance Qualification.
Supervisor:		Berthold Peter
Requirements for participation		For registration at the international office a test/certification at the level B1.2 is required.
Professional orientation Relevance to studies		An adequate knowledge of German is required from foreign students and academics for the purpose of integration in the studies, in the profession and in everyday life outside the university.
Orientation of the module		The main purpose of the module is the teaching and practicing of German language skills relevant in an academic environment, i.e. the acquisition of knowledge.
Skills and knowledge to be acquired		Knowledge of grammar and vocabulary, skill in listening and reading comprehension, writing and speaking the German language.
Content of the module		The content of the module is based on the discretionary standards of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages level B2.1 and also deals with the specific language demands made by everyday student life.
Form(s) of class -(es)		Language course
Form(s) of testing/evaluation		Test for the module
Work load in hours	Total	90 h
	Of these for A classes
	Aa attendance	60 h
	Ab Preparation and further study, course assessment	30 h
	B Privately organised work within the module	Does not apply
	C Module (final) test	Belongs to Point A
Test for the course Type A	Precondition	Regular attendance
	Final assessment in the module consisting of	Two tests in each course. Text production, reading comprehension and grammar will be tested..
	Repetition of assessment	Later test
	Final mark for the module	40% from the mid-semester test, 40% from the final test and 20 % for oral participation. Compensation is possible.
Credit points		3
Regularity of class, length in semesters		each winter semester and each summer semester
Language of instruction		German
Capacity of class		max. 20 participants per class

AAA - B2.2		Evening Class: German B2.2		Independent of the semester	3 CP
Module description		Evening course: German as a foreign language at level B2.2
Module code		AAA - B2.2 EU
Department / Subject / Institute		Akademisches Auslandsamt (international office). Section: German as a foreign language (DaF)
Conducted in the following courses of study/ ... semester(s) ...		The course is run independent of the study subject. The target group is exchange students, doctoral candidates and visiting academics and their families. Recognition as a qualification in an unrelated-subject skill ("AfK") is only possible for students with a foreign University Entrance Qualification.
Supervisor:		Berthold Peter
Requirements for participation		For registration at the international office a test/certification at the level B2.1 is required.
Professional orientation Relevance to studies		An adequate knowledge of German is required from foreign students and academics for the purpose of integration in the studies, in the profession and in everyday life outside the university.
Orientation of the module		The main purpose of the module is the teaching and practicing of German language skills relevant in an academic environment, i.e. the acquisition of knowledge.
Skills and knowledge to be acquired		Knowledge of grammar and vocabulary, skill in listening and reading comprehension, writing and speaking the German language.
Content of the module		The content of the module is based on the discretionary standards of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages at level B2.2 and also deals with the specific language needs of everyday student life.
Form(s) of class (-es)		Language course
Forms of testing/evaluation		Test for the module
Work load in hours	Total	90 h
	Of these for A classes
	Aa attendance	60 h
	Ab Preparation and further study, course assessment	30 h
	B Privately organised work within the module	Does not apply
	C module (final) test	Belongs to Point A
Test for the course Type A	Precondition	Regular attendance
	Final assessment in the module consisting of	Two tests in each course. Text production, reading comprehension and grammar will be tested.
	Repetition of assessment	Later test
	Final mark for the module	40% from the mid-semester test, 40% from the final test and 20 % for oral participation. Compensation is possible.
Credit points		3
Regularity of class, length in semesters		each winter semester and each summer semester
Language of instruction		German
Capacity of class		max. 20 participants per class

AAA - C1.1		Evening class:German C1.1		Independent of the semester	3 CP
Module description		Evening course: German as a foreign language, at level C1.1
Module code		AAA - C1.1 EU
Department / Subject / Institute		Akademisches Auslandsamt (international office). Section: German as a foreign language (DaF)
Conducted in the following courses of study/ ... semester(s) ...		The course is run independent of the study subject. The target group is exchange students, doctoral candidates and visiting academics and their families. Recognition as a qualification in an unrelated-subject skill ("AfK") is only possible for students with a foreign University Entrance Qualification.
Supervisor:		Berthold Peter
Requirements for participation		For registration at the international office a test / certification at the level B2.2 is required.
Professional orientation Relevance to studies		An adequate knowledge of German is required from foreign students and academics for the purpose of integration in the studies, in the profession and in everyday life outside the university.
Orientation of the module		The main purpose of the module is the teaching and practicing of German language skills relevant in an academic environment, i.e. the acquisition of knowledge.
Skills and knowledge to be acquired		Knowledge of grammar and vocabulary, skill in listening and reading comprehension, writing and speaking the German language.
Content of the module		The content of the module is based on the discretionary standards of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages at level C1,1 and also deals with the specific language needs of everyday student life.
Form(s) of class (-es)		Language course
Forms of testing/evaluation		Test for the module
Work load in hours	Total	90 h
	Of these for aA classes
	Aa attendance	60 h
	Ab Preparation and further study, course assessment	30 h
	B Privately organised work within the module:	Does not apply
Test for the course Type A	C Module (final ) test	Belongs to Point A
	Precondition	Regular attendance
	Final assessment in the module consisting of	Two tests in each course. Text production, reading comprehension and grammar will be tested.
	Repetition of assessment	Later test
	Final mark for the module	40% from the mid-semester test, 40% from the final test and 20 % for oral participation. Compensation is possible.
Credit points		3
Regularity of class, length in semesters		each winter semester and each summer semester
Language of instruction		German
Capacity of class		max. 20 participants per class

AAA - C1.2		Evening course: German C1.2		Independent of the semester	3 CP
Module description		Evening course: German as a foreign language, at level C1.2
Module code		AAA EU-C1.2 EU
Department / Subject / Institute		Akademisches Auslandsamt (international office). Section: German as a foreign language (DaF)
Conducted in the following courses of study/ ... semester(s) ...		The course is run independent of the study subject. The target group is exchange students, doctoral candidates and visiting academics and their families. Recognition as a qualification in an unrelated-subject skill ("AfK") is only possible for students with a foreign University Entrance Qualification.
Supervisor:		Berthold Peter
Requirements for participation		For registration at the international office a test./ certification at the level C1.1 is required.
Professional orientation Relevance to studies		An adequate knowledge of German is required from foreign students and academics for the purpose of integration in the studies, in the profession and in everyday life outside the university.
Orientation of the module		The main purpose of the module is the teaching and practicing of German language skills relevant in an academic environment, i.e. the acquisition of knowledge.
Skills and knowledge to be acquired		Knowledge of grammar and vocabulary, skill in listening and reading comprehension, writing and speaking the German language.
Content of the module		The content of the module is based on the discretionary standards of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages at level C1.2 and also deals with the specific language needs of everyday student life.
Form(s) of class (-es)		Language course
Forms of testing/evaluation		Test for the module
Work load in hours	Total	90 h
	Of these for Classes
	A attendance	60 h
	Ab Preparation and further study, course assessment	30 h
	B Privately organised within the module:	Does not apply
	C Module (final) test	Belongs to Point A
Test for the course Type A	Precondition	Regular attendance
	Final assessment in the module consisting of	Two tests in each course. Text production, reading comprehension and grammar will be tested..
	Repetition of assessment	Later test
	Final mark for the module	40% from the mid-semester test, 40% from the final test and 20 % for oral participation. Compensation is possible.
Credit points		3
Regularity of class, length in semesters		each winter semester and each summer semester
Language of instruction		German
Capacity of class		max. 20 participants per class			