

Call for Participation: IMPACCT World Café

“Being a teacher is like being a rock star – without the screaming fans.”<sup>1</sup> How do you feel about teaching?

Each country has its own regulations in teacher education, each curriculum is tied to country-specific standards, role and prestige of teachers vary across countries. There are, however, current issues that affect us all and need to be addressed in schools and at universities: intercultural competence, migration, climate change, war, democracy...

The IMPACCT World Café provides an international platform for student teachers from Austria, Germany, Sweden, Switzerland and Turkey to exchange opinions on teaching.

Would you like to know what student teachers in Sweden learn in their studies? Are you curious how much alike German and Austrian teacher education are? Attend our World Café and ask your peers directly.

World Café

May 11, 2022, 3.30 pm-6.30 pm (CET)

Registration until:

May 4, 2022 (Please include information on affiliation and course of study)

Contact:

Wiebke.Nierste@admin.uni-giessen.de

Languages:

English and German

(We speak in simple and clear language and are committed to accommodate students with different language levels)

Website IMPACCT:

<https://www.uni-giessen.de/internationales/lehramtinternational/impacct>

Time	What?	Where?
3.30 pm	Welcome and introduction	Main session
3.50 pm	Icebreaker My Intercultural Educational Biography	Breakout session
4.10 pm	Topic 1: What aspects of teacher education have you already dealt with in your studies?	Breakout session
4.30 pm	Topic 2: What challenges to teachers do you perceive? Do you feel prepared for teaching in today's classrooms?	Breakout session
5.00 pm	Break
5.15 pm	Topic 3: Visions for school and education in the 21 st century	Breakout session
5.45 pm	Wrap-up and evaluation	Main session
6.30 pm	End

<sup>1</sup> Jack Armstrong, Rizzoli & Isles, season 5, episode 5.

