MA-Greek 2	Language Analysis Techniques	2nd sem.	10 ECTS
Module	Language Analysis Techniques
Module code	MA-Greek-2
Faculty/Subject/Department	Faculty 04/Greek and Latin Philology/Department of Classical Studies
Associated degree courses/semester taken	MA-Ancient Literature /2 nd sem.
Module coordinator	Cf. German version
Prerequisites	None
Learning outcomes	The students are able to analyse difficult phenomena of Greek syntax and complex text structures with the aid of appropriate descriptive categories. They have the linguistic ability to access demanding original Greek texts and to translate them appropriately into German. The students enhance their awareness of the connection between linguistic principles and the textual constitution of meaning and to reflect on the translation possibilities and functions of translating original texts.
Module content	In the language tutorial complex and structures of the Greek language that are particularly demanding from a German language perspective are systematically discussed and practiced. Grammar exercises and translations from German into Greek serve this purpose. In the reading tutorial the acquired knowledge is used to translate difficult original Greek texts and knowledge is therefore enhanced. Subjects covered in the reading tutorial are both demanding pieces of prose and poetic texts.
